

(Project Reference Number: 692162)

Terms of Reference FOWARIM Scientific External Advisory Board

Duties and Tasks

The Scientific External Advisory Board (SEAB) will undertake the periodic review and monitoring of quality research conducted by the research team at MCAST and provide recommendations to this same team in relation to the scientific and methodological aspects of the FOWARIM Project activities. The SEAB will advise on the overall research quality and crucially, on the research execution and planned activities to enhance medium to long term impact of research initiatives in the area of water and agriculture, selected societal challenges and society.

The SEAB reports to the Project Steering Group (PSG) and provides guidance on the scientific and technological aspects of the FOWARIM project and provides technical leadership.

The role of the SEAB will be :

- To advise MCAST research team members on the current status of relevant research
- To recommend to the PSG proposals for enhancement of the MCAST research team
- To enhance the technical reputation of MCAST research team
- To report to and take direction from the PSG

Eligibility for Application:

- Involved in cutting edge research related to the use of water in Mediterranean agriculture
- Minimum of 5 years' experience in water-related research
- Published papers in high-impact peer-reviewed journals
- Extensive experience in the reviewing of research projects